OFFICE: No. 15 Quincy Street.

SATURDAY, DEC. 9, 1871. FROM the report of the railroad conference at the Grant House, Thursday evening, presented in our columns this morning, city readers will acquaint themselves with the salient features of the present railroad situation as it regards the projected line into Ohio. They will see just what is proposed in the matter of the projected connection with the Lake Shore & Toscarawas Valley road, the advantages oftered by that connection, and, on the other hand, some of the disadvantages, and the merits of the competing project of a separate line to Sandusky. The argument for or against either is not very generate ince the facts yet accurately of 1,000 inhabitants.

NAVARIE. Nov. 28, 1871.

Dear Sir.—I, as one of the business men of this place, and feeling an interest in the projected line of railway known as the "Wheeling & Lake Eric," would like to know how the business men of your city view the matter.

We are busily engaged in raising stock, and have now $20,000 subscribed in good collectable stock, with only a population of 1,000 inhabitants. gument for or against either is not very exhaustive, nor the facts yet accurately of 1,000 inhabitants.

The two little villages southeast of us cannot but think the Wheeling Creek but think but think the wheeling Creas project, of a connection with the L. S. & business and the consequent growth of Y. V. road, is the most tangible and promising. There is a painful want of exact information as to the topography and length of the proposed line to Sandusky. There has been but a partial and hasty Ohio Canal when it is known that we hardle annually about 100 0000 bushels of hardle annually about 1 There has been but a partial and hasty the right of way, about the amount of bona file subscription, about the character of pledges made for other subscription, and about the names and financial standing of the mysterious "Eastern capitalists" who we are assured are eagerly competing with one another for the privilege of building the whole line when a local sub- cleave unto his flock. scription of ten thousand dollars a mile

As soon as a company is organized the difficulties as to all these are spoken of as conductive to re-enforcing enfeebled nature. The Cleveston general sufficient many because the sufficient means of the suffering the sufficient means of the some extent, essential, they has possible and gentlemen in what they had to say did not appear disposed to magnify the advantages offered by the connection with their road, nor, on the other hand to belittle the difficulties and cost of making the connecting road up the creek. The fact seems to be, so far as we have evidence, that there is not much to choose as to difficulties of topography between the two rival routes to the waters of the Tuscarawas: up Wheeling Creek and up Short Creek. We may as well make up our Creek. We may as well make up our minds that no outlet in that direction can be found that will not be very costly.

And so far as individual stock is concerned, that can always be controlled by any road that has enough money to buy it. So that whatever may e the original management of any road, it is liable these times to pass under different control. Wheeling need not, therefore, expect, whatever road, if any, she gives her assistance to, to escape the risks this state of facts entails, and she should guard against them as far as she can in the location of the terminus.

The Proposed Release of the B. & O. R. R. from Taxation. To the Editors of the Intelligencer: It is well known that the Baltimore &

It is well known that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company never kept faith with the city of Wheeling or any of its citizens who were unfortunate enough to seek an overture with it.

In the face of this glaring fact we are startled by the insulting proposition made by that corporation to our "Honorable Board of Supervisors," to the effect that in consideration for supervisors, to the effect that

Board of Supervisors," to the effect that in consideration of a release of all claims against the Baltimore & Ohio Company and Wheeling & Pittsburgh Company for all taxes, past, present and future, on the part of the county, township and city of Wheeling, the said companies will agree to spend not less than $100,000 in the exection of shops mechanism.

Wheeling, the said companies will agree to spend not less than $100,000 in the erection of shops, machinery, &c., on their property in this city.

Have our already overburdened tax-payers forgotten the "double track railroud" that was to have been laid from Baltimore to this city, and the magnificent "railway bridge" that was to span our river at or near a point on the north side of Wheeling creek? If they have forgotten these promises (all made in good faith by the Company) perhaps some of them may remember the gorgeous, princely "Union line of steamers," gotten up principally by themselves, at the instance of said company—how they were swindled into the "Union line" to the tune of a great may hundred thousand dollars. The foregoing, together with our city subscription of $500,000 to the capital stock of said company, is yet fresh in the minds of many of our citizens, and its perhaps the chief one of the many fruitful sources of our present financial embarrassment.

When these things are forgotten, and the present generation has passed away, a proposition of the nature of the one instead magnific accounts of the Great Northwestern panies of all taxes, past, present, and inture, (equivalent to about $70,000 of a donation), what will have been gained to our city or county by this unprededented act of generosity? The bare and empty remained by the sorement in the steam of the control of the county and not till then.

In the release contemplated to the companies of all taxes, past, present, and inture, (equivalent to about $70,000 of a donation), what will have been gained to our city or county by this unprededented act of generosity? The bare and empty remained by the sorement in the steam of the corner of the panies of all taxes, past, present, and interest (equivalent to about $70,000 of a donation), what will have been gained to our city or county by this unprecedented act of generosity? The bare and empty promise by that company, through one of its minor officers, that they will agree to spend not less than $100,000 in the erection of shops, machinery, &c., on their property in the city of Waseling.

When the contemplated contract is signed, scaled, and delivered, it is characteristic of that body to inform the "Honorable Board" that the sum mentioned is already spent and in successful operation in the south end of Switchville, and should the "Honorable Board" seek to enforce the complance of the company, they will be gravely informed by one of the offices of the company, clad in proper and should the "Honorable Board" seek to enforce the compliance of the company they will be gravely informed by one of the offices of the company, clad if proper authority, that the Second Vice President had neither authority nor power to execute such contract, and hence void.

Such in brief is the way in which the B. & O. R. Company keeps faith with those with whom it has dealings, and such is the fate that a too gullable public may expect at the hands of a heartless company, celebrated wherever known for their want of good faith, chicanery and knawery, and it most devoutly wished that the City Council before ratifying the "contemplated" contract will sift this matter to the very bottom, and regard with suspi-cion any and all propositions emanating from that company with a view of "set-tling past difficulties," knowing they bode us no good and are to be entertained with great cantion.
